FUNDING OF HOME LOANS BUSINESS

Neither SAHL nor SA Home Loans Proprietary Limited (“SA Home Loans”) are banks and as such do not accept deposits from the public. Funding for the operations of the businesses are raised through a number of methods. The most important funding method utilised by SAHL and SA Home Loans is the raising of funds through the debt capital markets through securitisation. Cash flow producing assets (such as home loans) are pooled together and the value of such loans is packaged as securities which are then sold to institutional investors in the capital markets. The capital markets are where long-term funding (greater than one year in duration) can be obtained and it is, as such, the place where many lenders, banks included, would obtain longer term funding for their long-term assets (such as home loans). Properties are registered in the clients names at all times and therefore the mechanism does not pose risk to home loan borrowers. The securitised loan pools are housed in Special Purpose Vehicle that is ring-fenced and insolvency remote – meaning no risk to home owners. SA Home Loans (Pty) Ltd in turn acts as the Servicer of securitised and managed entities.
